Parish Mission Statement

The Saint Teresa of Avila Parish is a diverse Catholic community of faith that embraces everyone, without exception. We see ourselves as uniquely able to engage in dialogue with people of all faiths and act as peacemakers in our city. Challenged by the Gospel, nourished by the Eucharist and inspired by the teachings of Saint Teresa of Avila, we are called to be witnesses of Christ's Love, for the salvation of all people.

Stewardship Matters

August 28 – September 3

When

Life will surely be better after we finish school, find a good job, get married, have children, or get them raised. Better days must be just around the corner. Someone once said, “It seemed to me that life was about to begin—real life. But there was always some obstacle in the way, something to be gotten through first. Then life would begin. At last it dawned on me that these obstacles were my life.” So treasure every moment, beginning today. Stop waiting until you finish school or lose ten pounds, until you have kids or they leave home, until you start work or retire, until you get married, until you get a new car or your home is paid off, until next year, until you are off welfare, until you've had a drink or sobered up, until your ship comes in, until you die. Live now or never.

Living Stewardship Now

If today were your last day on earth, what is the one thing you would need to do to die in peace? Make that happen.

Cuando

Todo me irá mejor en la vida cuando termine el colegio, encuentre un buen trabajo, me case, tenga hijos o ya estén criados. De seguro se avecinan tiempos mejores. Alguien se expresó así una vez: “Pensé que me empezaba a ir bien en la vida. Con todo y eso, siempre había un obstáculo en el camino, algo que primero tenía que resolverse. Entonces comenzarían los buenos tiempos de la vida. Por fin caí en cuenta de que todos esos obstáculos eran mi vida”. Así es que empieza ya desde hoy a dar gracias y aprovechar cada momento que tienes. No esperes hasta terminar el colegio o perder diez libras, o hasta que tengas niños, o hasta que ya los hayas criado, hasta que empieces a trabajar o hasta que te jubiles, hasta que te cases, o tengas un coche nuevo, o hayas terminado de pagar tu casa, hasta el año que viene o hasta que ya no necesites asistencia social, hasta que te des un trago, hasta que se te pase la embriaguez, o hasta que te mueras. Vive ahora o nunca.

La Corresponsabilidad Vivida Ahora

Si hoy fuera tu último día en esta tierra, ¿qué es aquello que tendrías que hacer para morir en paz? Hazlo ya.

Founding Mother of Catechesis of the Good Shepherd Passes

Sofia Cavalletti, founding mother of the Catechesis of the Good Shepherd (CGS) passed away August 23rd at age 94, leaving a legacy of catechesis—CGS is taught in St. Teresa of Avila Parish and in 37 countries around the world.

A Hebrew and scripture scholar, Sofia began to work with children in 1954, collaborating with Gianna Gobbi, a Montessori educator. Together they were called and inspired by the children they served to listen, watch, and deepen an understanding of children's spirituality in relationship with God.

Sofia leaves to the world an approach to the Christian formation of children from the ages of three to twelve that is theologically sound, systematic, and rich in Bible, liturgy, and sacred history. Sofia's reverence for the Bible and liturgy, her fresh and compelling style of writing and speaking, her wise and intelligent way of discussing complicated theological themes simply, her sense of humor, and personal warmth will be greatly missed by many.

Readings, Liturgy & Tradition

August 28 – September 3

Today's Readings

First Reading — The name of the LORD has become like fire burning in Jeremiah's heart (Jeremiah 20:7-9).

Psalm — My soul is thirsting for you, O Lord my God (Psalm 63).

Second Reading — Be transformed; renew your mind; discern what is good (Romans 12:1-2).

Gospel — Those who lose their lives for Jesus' sake will find them (Matthew 16:21-27).

The Cross of Jesus

© Annika Nelson

The perception of a cross changed dramatically after Jesus' crucifixion. Before that event, death on a cross was not only horrible, it was degrading. It was a penalty reserved only for the most wretched of criminals. The word "glory" would not have found its way into the same sentence containing the word "cross." But all that changed with Jesus. Over time, believers began to venerate and honor the cross. They painted, sculpted, and carved images of it. Many lost their own lives for their association with it. Today our reverence for and relationship with the cross recalls little of the contempt originally associated with it. As it has been through the ages, it is our perception of the cross that determines how we follow Jesus. — © Copyright, J. S. Paluch Co.

What Jesus Did, What Jesus Said

The oldest account of what happened at the Last Supper comes to us not from the Gospels but from the First Letter of Saint Paul to the Corinthians: "I received from the Lord what I also handed on to you, that the Lord Jesus, on the night he was handed over, took bread, and, after he had given thanks, broke it and said, 'This is my body that is for you. Do this in remembrance of me'" (11:23-24). In our celebrations of the Eucharist, we are obedient to Christ's command to "do this." The priest, acting in the person of Christ, does what Jesus did and says what Jesus said. He takes bread, gives thanks, breaks it, and gives it to the Lord's disciples. He takes wine, gives thanks, shares it with us. We believe that the entire Eucharistic Prayer is consecratory, but we continue to hold these words of Jesus in special reverence. They are called the words of consecration, and the elevations of the host and chalice, the genuflections of the priest, and the optional ringing of a bell and use of incense remind us that we are in the presence of the Lord. — Corinna Laughlin, © Copyright, J. La Cruz de Jesús

La percepción de una cruz cambió dramáticamente después de la crucifixión de Jesús. Antes de ese suceso, la muerte en una cruz no era tan solo horrible, sino que era degradante. Era un castigo reservado únicamente para los más horrendos criminales. La palabra “gloria” no habría hallado su lugar en una oración que contuviera la palabra “cruz”. Mas todo esto cambió con Jesús. Con el pasar del tiempo, los creyentes comenzaron a venerar y a honrar la Cruz. La pintaron, esculpieron, y tallaron imágenes de la misma. Muchos perdieron su vida por asociarse con ella. Hoy nuestra reverencia y relación con la cruz poco recuerda el desprecio al que originalmente estuvo asociada. Con el curso de los años, es nuestra percepción de la Cruz la que determina cómo seguimos a Jesús. — © Copyright, J. S. Paluch Co.

Lecturas de hoy

Primera lectura — Me sedujiste, Señor, y me dejé seducir por ti (Jeremías 20:7-9).

Salmo — Mi alma está sedienta de ti, Señor, mi Dios (Salmo 63 [62]).

Segunda lectura — No se dejan llevar por las cosas del mundo, más bien transfórmense por la renovación de su mente (Romanos 12:1-2).

Evangelio — Si quieres seguirme, renuncia a ti mismo, carga con tu cruz y sígueme (Mateo 16:21-27).

El Amén y la Doxología

La Plegaria Eucarística concluye con una doxología o palabra de Gloria para Dios y es la forma tradicional en la que se concluye un himno litúrgico. En la celebración eucarística esta es la doxología principal mediante la cual, quien preside la liturgia, expresa la glorificación de Dios. El pueblo ha de responder con un rotundo amén que haga honor no sólo a la doxología misma, sino también, a lo que significa Amén. La palabra Amén es una expresión de firmeza, de total convencimiento de que todo lo que se ha dicho y hecho es verdadero, que se cree profundamente, a prueba de todo. Es mucho más que la conclusión de la mayoría de nuestras oraciones, es la asimilación misma de nuestro compromiso a vivir conforme a lo que hemos celebrado u orado. Por eso que nuestro amén tiene que ser verdadero, no sólo al concluir la Plegaria Eucarística sino al comulgar el Cuerpo y la Sangre de Cristo. Al hacerlo, decimos “sí” a lo que verdaderamente somos: el cuerpo místico de Cristo. Nos hacemos uno con él en comunión y formamos un solo cuerpo en comunión con Dios. ¡Amén! — Miguel Arias, © Copyright, J. S. Paluch Co.

Seeking God

Deep within every human person is an unquenchable thirst for God. Some of us recognize this thirst and do very little to satisfy it. Some of us ignore or deny the thirst all together and do nothing. Yet others of us dig deep, reach far, seek wide to assuage this desire.

We are, as far as our recollection can gather, separate, individual, unique. This is our starting point. And so we go seeking, asking, doing, and pulling up the “sheets” to our personality or conscious for some of us more ardent pursuers. I guess it is a natural thing. We seek God to be ultimately united with God; and the stronger the desire, the stronger the seeking.

This outward pursuit unfortunately leads to dead ends. And it is not until we tire of dead ends that we finally stop moving forward. All seekers go through it, this period of stagnation, or so it appears. It is at this moment that some really wonderful things can happen.

This sitting still will, with God’s grace, invite us to turn inward. For it is in our heart that the love, mercy and grace of God resides. Any significant spirituality progress, any significant quenching of the thirst, any significant unification, comes about with a turning inward.

It is a scary thing to turn inward. For in our heart, the first thing we will see is our flaws, our sins, our bad habits that no one knows about. Don’t be afraid of these flaws; they humble us and offer us the environment for reconciliation with God that leads us to touches of unification with God. It is through our sins, our short comings, that we come to experience our salvation and the sweet taste of God’s loving mercy.

Invitation to Communion

By Kristopher W. Seaman

The Invitation to Communion is one change in the revised edition of The Roman Missal that definitely needs to be broken open. The new text is as follows:

Priest: Behold the Lamb of God, behold him who takes away the sins of the world.
Blessed are those called to the supper of the Lamb.

All: Lord, I am not worthy that you should enter under my roof, but only say the word
and my soul shall be healed.

Why the change from “Lord, I am not worthy to receive you, / but only say the word and I shall be healed” to the above text? While the priest’s invitation is a combination from the Gospel according to John 1:29 and the book of Revelation 19:9, the people’s response or acclamation is taken from Matthew 8:8. In the full story from the Gospel according to Matthew, Jesus went to Capernaum. There, a Roman Centurion asks Jesus to heal his paralyzed servant. Jesus offers to go and cure the servant, to which the Centurion gives the text we now use as the response to the Invitation to Communion.

One of the principles for translating The Roman Missal texts from the Latin, official edition, to the English, is that the translation be literal and correspond more closely to the text of scripture. Many of the texts we use in liturgy are taken from the scriptures. Since this particular response is from the Gospel according to Matthew, the text now corresponds more closely to the words of scripture.

The Invitation to Communion follows the fraction rite, where the Body of Christ was broken or fractured, during the singing of the Lamb of God. The priest’s text flows from the singing of the Lamb of God when he proclaims: “Behold the Lamb of God.” The priest says twice: “behold.” In other words, pay attention; be present to Christ in our midst. Sharing in this Supper of the Lamb affords us blessedness from God. Despite our unworthiness, our divisions, our woundedness, we pray that Christ Jesus will heal us to our depths, not just physically, but spiritually for the depth of our soul. It is in the reception of Christ’s Body and Blood that we are healed and nourished. We are not worthy that Christ should come to us, let alone enter our very beings. But indeed, Christ does. Saint Augustine once described Christ as the Divine Physician who comes to heal those who are sick. Indeed, all of us humans are sick with sin, and only Christ Jesus can heal us through his Words and through his very Body and Blood.
