Receive it and Pass it One

If you don't sleep well tonight, remember the homeless family with no bed to lie in. When you're stuck in traffic, don't be angry. Millions of people will never have a car to drive. After a bad day at work, think of the man unemployed for a year. Mourning a broken relationship? Remember those with no one to love them. Unhappy because your vacation is over? Think of the mother working twelve hour shifts to feed her family. So you ran out of gas? A paraplegic would love to be able to walk to the service station. Saw a gray hair in the mirror? Think of the patient in chemotherapy with no hair left. If you're the victim of bitterness, ignorance, or worse, remember that this happened to Jesus, too. Use those gifts that you have received, and pass on the love that has been given to you. Accept that you are a child of God.

Living Stewardship Now

“We should strive to keep our hearts open to the sufferings and wretchedness of other people, and pray continually that God may grant us that spirit of compassion which is truly the gift of God.”

—Saint Vincent de Paul (1580–1660), French priest, religious founder, servant of the poor

Agradece y Difunde

Si no puedes dormir bien esta noche, acuérdate de la familia sin techo y sin una cama donde descansar. Si estás atascado en tráfico, no te enojés. Millones de personas nunca tendrán un coche que manejar. Después de un día pésimo en el trabajo, piensa en el que ha estado desempleado por un año. ¿Afligido por una relación rota? Acuérdate de los que no tienen a nadie que los ame. ¿Lamentas que se te acabaron las vacaciones? Acuérdate de la madre que trabaja turnos de doce horas para mantener a su familia. ¿Así es que te quedaste sin gasolina? Una persona parapléjica le encantaría poder caminar a la gasolinera. ¿Viste una cana reflejada en el espejo? Piensa en la paciente con quimioterapia que ya no tiene cabellos. Si eres víctima de la amargura, la ignorancia o cosas peores, acuérdate que eso también le pasó a Jesús. Agradece los dones que has recibido y difunde el amor que se te ha concedido. Acepta que eres hijo o hija de Dios.

La corresponsabilidad vivida ahora

“Debemos esforzarnos por mantener nuestro corazón abierto a los sufrimientos y desgracias de los demás, y orar continuamente para que Dios nos conceda ese espíritu de compasión, que es al fin un don de Dios”.

—San Vicente de Paúl (1580–1660), sacerdote francés, fundador religioso, servidor de los pobres

The Counting Team Needs You!

Do you have a few hours once a month that you can dedicate to the church? Of course you do! One of the ministries that is always in need of help is the Counting Team.

The counters help to organize and deposit the church's funds on a weekly basis. Without them, the finances would come to a halt.

If you are interested in joining us, please contact Erica at (773) 528-6650 or esacucci@gmail.com.

We are currently running a $3,682 deficit of our budgeted Sunday collections of $12,000 for the weekend of March 18, 2012. Currently we are at a 1% increase over collections from last fiscal year.

Today's Readings

First Reading — I will place my law within them and write it upon their hearts. (Jeremiah 31:31-34) or Ezekiel 37:12-14.

Psalm — Create a clean heart in me, O God (Psalm 51) or Psalm 130.

Second Reading — Christ became the source of eternal salvation for all who obey him (Hebrews 5:7-9) or Romans 8:8-11.

Gospel — If a grain of wheat falls to the ground and dies, it produces much fruit (John 12:20-33) or John 11:1-45 [3-7, 17, 20-27, 33b-45].

Today's first reading is an enormously important passage, not only in the history of the Jewish people, but also for us as disciples of Jesus, who see in it a foreshadowing of the Christian dispensation. The prophet announces that God has chosen to forgive the people, and that as a sign of divine forgiveness a new covenant will be established. Contrasting the new covenant with the one made with Moses on Mount Sinai, Jeremiah says that the new covenant will be written on the people's hearts rather than on tablets of stone. No longer will the community's tradition be the sole bearer of the covenant; henceforth, God will speak directly and personally to each individual, forgiving sin and calling for a return to God in faithfulness. No longer will mere outward compliance with the dictates of the Law suffice; henceforth, God asks for an obedience that springs from the depths of one's heart.

Precisely that kind of obedience is highlighted in today's second reading, where the author of the Letter to the Hebrews describes Jesus as the mediator of the new covenant whose obedience has made him the source of salvation for all who, in turn, obey him. — Copyright © J. S. Paluch Co.

Treasures from Our Tradition

Ask senior parishioners about this fifth Sunday, and they will share memories of this Sunday years ago, when it was known as "Passion Sunday." In those days, the statues and crucifixes were draped in purple cloth, and a deeply somber atmosphere infused worship. The structure is different today for good reason. The stunning changes in the appearance of the church building drew attention away from the twofold work of Lent: reconciliation and preparing for initiation. Today, this Sunday is given to reflection on the necessity to commit, like Jesus, to the Father's will. Wherever elect are present today, the "A" reading reveals Jesus' compassion in the face of human suffering, and his desire to call us from the tombs of sin, isolation, and even death itself.

As Lent draws to a close over the next ten days, and before the beginning of the Easter Triduum on Holy Thursday, we enter an ideal time for celebrating the sacrament of reconciliation. Today's old title of "Passion Sunday" has migrated to next Sunday, also called "Palm Sunday." In many places, people prepare their own bundles of branches for next week's liturgy: pussy willow, forsythia, dogwood. If your parish schedules a procession, you may want to prepare these branches at home and bring them along. —James Field, Copyright © J. S. Paluch Co.

El Nuevo Pacto

La primera lectura de hoy es un paso muy importante, en la historia del pueblo judío y también para nosotros como discípulos de Jesús que ven en ella un anuncio de la dispensación cristiana. El profeta anuncia que Dios ha escogido perdonar al pueblo, y que como un signo del perdón divino se establecerá una nueva alianza.

Contrastando la nueva alianza con la que Dios hizo con Moisés en el Monte Sinaí, Jeremías dice que el nuevo pacto será inscrito en el corazón del pueblo y no en tablas de piedra. Ya no será la tradición de la comunidad la única portadora de la alianza; a partir de ahora, Dios hablará directa y personalmente a cada individuo, perdonando el pecado y pidiendo un retorno a Él en fidelidad. Ya no bastará el mero cumplimiento de los dictados externos de la ley; a partir de ahora, Dios pide una obediencia que brota de lo más profundo de nuestro corazón.

Precisamente ese tipo de obediencia se destaca en la segunda lectura de hoy, donde el autor de la Carta a los Hebreos describe a Jesús como el mediador del nuevo pacto, cuya obediencia ha hecho de él la fuente de salvación para todos los que, a su vez, le obedecen.

Tradiciones de Nuestra Fe

Basándose en las palabras de Jesús, Mariano de Blas, compuso su canto: “Entre tus manos”. Este hermoso canto nos recuerda que “hay que morir para vivir”, es decir, que no es nada fácil ser discípulo de Jesucristo. El mismo Jesús nos pide que nos neguemos a nosotros mismos (Mateo 16:24); que carguemos la cruz para seguirlo (Marcos 8:34); que perdamos nuestra vida por su nombre (Lucas 9:24). Todo esto porque Jesús reconoce que el grano de trigo debe morir para dar vida, para multiplicarse (Juan 12:24).

El canto: “Una espiga dorada por el sol”, de Cesáreo Gabaráin, nos recuerda que los cristianos somos trigo del mismo sembrador. Es Jesús quien nos siembra, nos cultiva, nos cosecha, nos tritura, nos amasa, y nos hace un solo pan consagrado a Dios. Somos granos de trigo que, unidos formamos el pan de la comunión que es comunidad. Para esto, cada uno debe morir a sus egoísmos y preferencias. Morir a sí mismo tiene sentido cristiano, sólo si es para trabajar unidos y en la misión de Cristo, la cual es salvación del mundo y construcción del Reino de Dios. — Fray Gilberto Cavazos-Giz, OFM, Copyright ©

Evangelio — Si el grano de trigo cae en tierra y muere, da mucho fruto (Juan 12:20-33) o Juan 11:1-45.

Becoming Naked Before God

During this Lenten season the icon of the Baptism of Christ is hanging in the front of church by the Altar. There are many wonderful spiritual things about this icon. The river flows from top to bottom, from heaven to earth. The angels who are witnessing Christ's baptism are in light and bright garb, their hands covered to show reverence and respect. John the Baptist, in darker garb, is representing repentance as well as being from the earth. The Christ figure floats off the canvas and has a facial expression of being singly focused in his intent.

Unlike most all other icons of Christ, in the Baptism of Christ we see Christ dressed in a simple loin cloth. Christ comes to his baptism, and comes to us, almost naked. His nakedness is representative of his disposition to his mission to his Father and to us— that Christ emptied himself to become incarnate in the world for the salvation of the world.

Christ comes to us in his nakedness and leads the way for us in his nakedness this Lent. There is a spiritual thought that if one wants to be one with Christ, if one wants to be totally alive with Christ, than one, as Christ has done, has to become emptied also. There is an old Latin prayer that reads, "Nudus nudum Christum sequi." "Naked to follow the naked Christ."

Our nakedness is not a stripping away of our clothing, but a stripping away of all the things and attachments that get in the way of us becoming one with Christ and becoming one in Christ. We must be willing to put aside and strip away all desire for acquisitions, accomplishments, achievements, recognitions, and with single mindedness become "naked to follow the naked Christ."

2012 Operation Rice Bowl Reflection – The New Covenant

This week through Operation Rice Bowl, we learn about malnourished children and expectant mothers in India whose health has been compromised by their poverty. We pray that we may open our hearts to the needs of the poor and vulnerable. ## The Hidden Life of Childhood

Paul talks about “the days when Christ was in the flesh.” But the Gospels show little interest in the private life of Jesus.

They show even less interest in his childhood. They give him a miraculous birth to put him in the same league with the other great people; there is a story about his being lost in the Temple. They repeat that story probably because it was too well-known to be ignored. Luke turned the incident into a demonstration of how precocious little Jesus was. But for all the rest of his childhood, Luke sums it up with the generic statement: “The child grew in wisdom and grace.”

Childhood was not an important stage of development then, as it is now. All boys were raised together by all mothers of the extended family compound until age 12, when they were turned over to the men. Childhood was merely a time of waiting to take their place as adult members of the community. Nothing special going on, nothing worthy of biography.

And yet, as we now know, a lot goes on in childhood. Some of the most important things happen then, which determine the projection of a whole lifetime. What we call the “hidden life” of Jesus was not hidden to God. All those youthful “hidden” experiences are what prepared Jesus for his very public adult life.

Jesus did not just happen to end on a cross — he earned his way there. He did not one day wake up to the fact of being God’s own Son — he gradually arrived at that recognition through daily, intimate prayer with God. Jesus did not suddenly decide that he could perform miracles. That ability grew in him day by day as he gained self-confidence in his union with God.

Jesus was able to do the things he did as an adult because of the way he did things as a child. He did not stumble into history full-blown as the Gospels seem to suggest.

Scripture says that Jesus “learned obedience by what he suffered.” He also learned patience by waiting to grow up; he learned his own limitations when he lost at games; he learned forgiveness when a playmate gave him a black eye; he learned to handle criticism when his mother called him a dreamer; he learned how to shake off rejection when people questioned his unusual parentage.

It was all of these childhood things — and the way he handled them — that enabled him to grow into a virile adult who could endure crucifixion. It was all of these simple, ordinary things that empowered him to burst on the scene as the greatest public figure in history.

And the very same thing happens to you and me. We won’t do great public feats, but whatever we do is the flowering of hidden events. We won’t be crucified, but however we die will be the natural conclusion of millions of little life experiences.

Like Jesus, we grow in wisdom and grace. Like Jesus, our growth is largely hidden — even from ourselves. We also grow in obedience by suffering misfortune. We grow in mercy by fixing a broken bird wing; we grow in honesty by admitting to breaking a window.

Jesus was able to do the things he did as an adult because of the way he did things as a child. He did not stumble into history full-blown as the Gospels seem to suggest. No, he doggedly drove himself into celebrity through a daily grind of eating, sleeping, praying, preaching, reaching out, pulling back — doing whatever was called for.

It is the same for us. We gradually grow in grace by traveling the dusty road of everyday events. As Khalil Gibran wrote: “In the dew of little things the heart finds its morning and is refreshed.”
